

Dovetales

Dovetales is a partnership group with the Theatre Royal, working with BME women, most of whom are Asylum Seekers or Refugees. We meet weekly during term time. The group has looked at literature and poetry from around the world, recorded stories for local radio, and is hoping to produce a book of recipes from a 'Come dine with me' event where the women cooked and shared their food alongside British women. As part of Refugee Week, we are also hoping to produce a piece of theatre based on their lives.
